IPVideo Corporation is a leading manufacturer of IP-based video surveillance and audio/video recording solutions, passive visual weapons detection systems and Internet of Things (IoT) sensor technology. IPVideo Corporation was founded in 1996, when IP video technology was in its infancy, and was among the first to take advantage of this emerging technology in the development of security products. Today, our systems and solutions are used around the world by a diverse cross-section of end users, spanning numerous industries such as Education, Public Safety, Healthcare and Commercial Business, including Fortune 500 companies, government entities and private market leaders.